XPN

November 2, 2026

As COO of XPN, I am pleased to recommend Stepan Turchenko, who worked with us as a Fullstack Developer. His responsibilities included developing mobile applications and backend services, automating marketing processes, and coordinating the engineering team.

Stepan brought a practical mindset to software development and the use of AI in everyday workflows. He connected technical decisions with business needs and approached assignments with a clear focus on useful, workable solutions.

What I particularly valued was his initiative and sense of responsibility. He engaged with complex problems, collaborated well with colleagues, and contributed beyond individual development tasks.

I would recommend Stepan to a team looking for a versatile developer who combines hands-on engineering skills with an understanding of how technology supports the business.

Best regards,
Kseniya Prilutskaya
COO, XPN
ksenia.p@xpn.co